- High efficiency, high reliability and accuracy. Compact, rugged in construction, free standing, floor mounting model and housed in sturdy metal casing with sufficient ventilations.
- High insulation values.
- Suitable for use with modern sophisticated micro processor based equipment, CNC machines, computers and other Industrial processing.
- Supply and outgoing terminals brought out with proper brass bolts and double nuts and washers under sheet secured cover with proper marking.
- Isolates the equipment from noisy power line.
- Reduces Power line noise, surges, spikes & transient.
- Provides the complete electromagnetic & electro static shielding

The results of an Ultra Isolation transformer are:

- It provides a perfectly balanced neutral at 'zero' potential and neutral can be used by grounding it.
- The supply of the output is free from all surges/spikes and so called electrical noise, which predominantly is present on the input side.
- Since the output is totally isolated from the input, any short circuits or faults on the primary side are not reflected on the secondary, thus avoiding damage to the sensitive electrical equipment.
